

Best Practice – Portable Counterweight Single Anchor Device

Saia identified the need for portable fall protection for heavy equipment mechanics.

At times, the mechanic is required to climb onto large pieces of equipment to perform maintenance work. Sometimes there are no locations for the mechanic to secure fall protection.

The Counterweight device was purchased in December with training provided by the vendor. The device will be evaluated for further, expanded use.

